GREECE

Greece

Greece has long been considered the ultimate island hopping destination. With over 6000 gorgeous islands and islets to explore there are seemingly endless places to discover by boat. Visitors flock to the country for its temperate climate, warm clear waters and well natured, hospitable population. Famed for stunning scenery and great sailing conditions, you'll enjoy every moment as you experience laid back Mediterranean culture at its finest.

Greece has it all. Sandy beaches, pretty coves, quaint fishing villages, white-washed Choras and cosmopolitan towns. Truly one of the Mediterraneans best sailing destinations. Explore a different island every day as you jump from one spectacular location to the next. With five distinctive sailing regions to be explored, you can keep coming back year after year and always find something new.

The Ionian

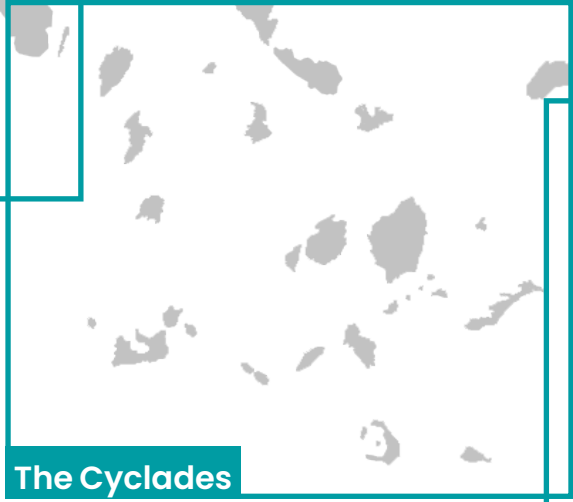

The Sporades

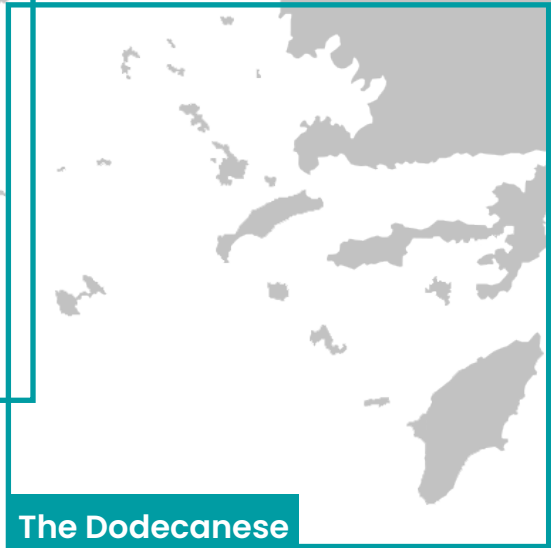

The Saronics

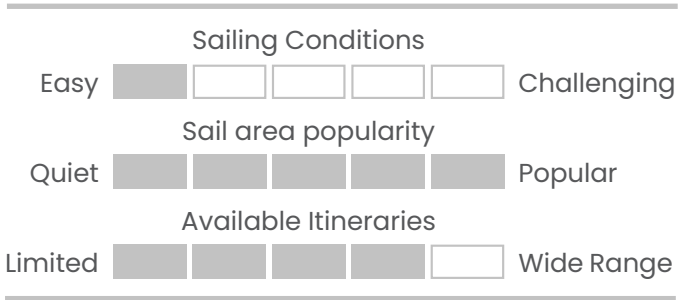

The Cyclades

The Dodecanese

The Ionian

Stretching down the West coast of Greece, the Ionian islands are one of the Mediterranean’s most popular charter sailing destinations. Renowned for gentle afternoon breezes, calm seas and plenty of sunshine – the Ionian is a playground for sailors to explore and make the most of. Travel to the main islands of Corfu, Paxos, Lefkada, Kefalonia, Ithaca & Zakynthos as well as twenty smaller islands. Each of which features its own array of quaint villages, harbours and bays.

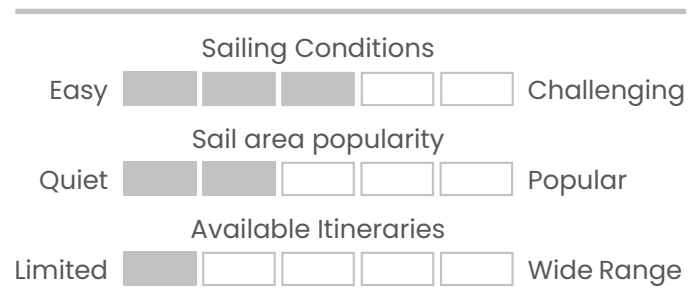

The Ionian sets itself apart with consistently perfect sailing conditions in sheltered seas. You will find innumerable safe anchorages with lush green surrounds. Its a perfect destination for fun & relaxed sailing holidays.

Saronics

The Saronic Gulf is a popular sailing area within easy reach of Athens. You don't have to travel far from the capital to find exceptional islands, coastal villages and harbours. The area makes for wonderful cruising with sheltered waters, perfect winds and beautiful scenery all set along the East coast of the Peloponnese.

The Sailing area traverses the Saronic and Argolic Gulfs to include the islands of: Aegia, Poros, Hydra and Spetses. Accompanied by many worthy stops on the Peloponnesian mainland, the area boasts a multitude of villages, harbours and bays with lush green surroundings.

Sporades Islands

The Sporades group lies off the eastern shore of the Greek mainland. These lesser-known islands have a very authentic charm. Stunning to behold, the islands are covered with old stone white-washed houses in maze like streets that are bustling with life.

The islands are consistently described as being breathtakingly beautiful. Covered in greenery and with perfect turquoise waters to match, they make for an excellent charter destination. Despite their rising popularity there are still plenty of quiet places that can only be reached by yacht.

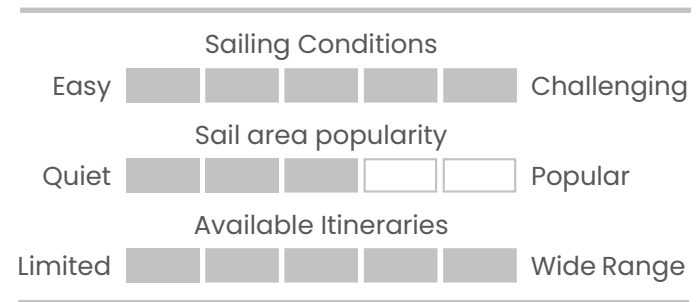

The group consists of Skiathos, Skopelos, Alonnisos and Skyros each with something unique to offer. The islands famously provided the setting for Mama Mia, so if you're an ABBA fan maybe the Sporades would make for the perfect holiday location.

Lavrion

Mykonos

Paros

Cyclades:

Taking up much of the Central Aegean Sea, the Cyclades Islands are exactly what most picture when they think of Greece. The islands are populated with white washed houses sat atop dramatic hillsides flanked on all sides by beautiful blue waters. This famous group of Greek Islands lives up to its reputation, with so many islands to explore you'll find endless delight exploring the region on your own sailing yacht.

Some of the best known islands include; Santorini, Mykonos, Naxos, Paros & Ios but there are many more besides. Each island of the group has its own character and charm; from the world renowned gorgeous sunsets of Santorini to the late night parties of Mykonos there's something for everyone to enjoy in the Cyclades.

Dodecanese Islands

The Dodecanese are a group of islands in the South Eastern Aegean, many of them just a stones throw away from Turkey's Anatolia. Similar in many ways to the Cyclades further to the West – the islands are covered with white-washed villages albeit with a more quiet, peaceful pace of life. If you're looking to get away from it all and venture to some of Greece's lesser known gems then the Dodecanese might be an excellent choice of charter location.

Though the name means 'The twelve Islands' There are in-fact fifteen main islands in the group surrounded by 93 smaller islets. With the exception of the busier and well-known island hubs of Kos and Rhodes, most of the islands offer a glimpse back in time with traditional white and blue fishing villages, quiet picturesque ports and 12th Century Fortresses to explore.
